

SCHOOL OF LAW, UCLan Cyprus CPD SERIES

Legal Issues and Practical Approaches for Emerging Technologies: Expert insights into real risks and multiplying opportunities

SERIES OUTLINE

This series aims to provide a practical understanding of the current legal issues raised by emerging technologies, and to identify realistic strategies to address those issues. The series encompasses three training sessions, which will explore the following themes:

- Applications using artificial intelligence and biometrics
- Blockchain and digital currencies
- Recent developments in data protection regulation

Each session will examine the topic from Cypriot, European and American perspectives.

Each session will also enable the attendees to network.

Each of the three training sessions will be relevant to members of the legal profession, compliance officers, data protection officers, risk management specialists, entrepreneurs, financial executives, negotiators, public servants, advanced students and all other people who need to be familiar with the subjects under discussion.

This Course is keeping with the mission of UCLan Cyprus, which is to offer high quality education and training to its advanced students, the professions, the business sector and the wider community. By special arrangement, the course may also be offered as in-house training for management, compliance personnel and employees at small and medium-sized businesses such as law firms, accounting firms, and administrative service providers.

COURSE STRUCTURE

The CPD Series will be delivered in the English language at an intermediate-to-advanced level. The three training sessions are independent of one another. Participation in one session is not dependent on participating in earlier or later sessions.

Certificates of completion will be issued to each attendee at the close of each session.

This Course is designed for the continuous professional development (CPD) of young and other professionals in Cyprus and internationally. UCLan Cyprus, through its Law School, is an accredited provider of Continuing Professional Development (CPD) programmes under the relevant Cyprus Bar Association scheme.
